With regard to the quantity of salt to be used, when used alone, we have stated that from 2 to 16 bushels have been found serviceable, and we will add, that quantities above the last named, have not been found to increase product; while, when largely above that quantity, positive injury has been done, the salt being in excess. On the whole, we would never use more than from 2 to 6 bushels to the acre; we name these quantities, because we have used them with decided advantage. We believe, where the refuse salt of meat packers, and fish packers, can be had, it will be found the influence of salt water spray. Such salt is sold at 12 to 15 cents per bushel.
